

Department of Philosophy
Faculty of Humanities and Social Sciences in Rijeka

Croatian Society for Analytic
Philosophy

Project RAD
Responding to antisocial personalities in a democratic society

In person mini symposium and a lecture
26 and 27 April 2022

Computational and Biological Approaches to Psychopathology

Keynote speaker

Sam Wilkinson
(University of Exeter)

26 APRIL 2022 – TUESDAY (Room 401)
12.00-12.45	Sam Wilkinson (University of Exeter) Basic Control in Cognition and Psychopathology: A Predictive Processing Perspective
12.50-13.35	Nick Bradshaw (University of Rijeka, Department of Biotechnology) Chronic Mental Illnesses as Protein Disorders
13.40-14.25	Dražen Domijan (University of Rijeka, Faculty of Humanities and Social Sciences) Predictive Coding and Cognitive (Im)Penetrability of Vision
16.15-16.45	Dino Jelčić (University of Rijeka, Faculty of Humanities and Social Sciences) Predictive Coding and Irrationality as Cognitive Delusion
27 APRIL 2022 – WEDNESDAY (Room 401)
10.15-11.00	Sam Wilkinson (University of Exeter) Humean Theory of Motivation and Predictive Coding

The event is funded by University of Rijeka Small Grants for Internationalization

This event is an outcome of project RAD that is funded by the Croatian Science Foundation

Organisation: Marko Jurjako

